Four Bids Are Submitted For New Post Office

Carmel businessmen will have at least a 30-day period of waiting before it is known what bid for the new post office will be accepted by the government.

All bids will be submitted to Washington from the San Francisco office of H. G. Mueller, post office inspector, who has been working on the matter with local bidders.

Four bids in all have been submitted. They are:

Robert Leidig, for enlarging to specifications the present building on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth.

A. W. (Bud) Clark, local realtor, for a building on the southeast corner of Dolores and Fifth. This building would house a group of shops as well as the post office itself.

Dr. J. S. Pyne of Modesto, for a location at Fifth and Mission.

Charles (Chuck) Fuller for a location at Junipero and Ocean.

It is understood that Walter and Harold Neilsen have withdrawn their bid for a location on Dolores below Seventh.

The fate of many Carmel businesses, especially the smaller shops, depends on the location and some owners are frankly jittery about the future.

Because of Carmel's own unique setup, many of these shops depend almost entirely on passers-by, and every resident in Carmel proper goes to the post office at least a couple of times a week.

The post office was at one time at Mission and Ocean and another on Dolores above Seventh.

Now You Know Where To Take Your Troubles

So you don't know where to find the city clerk to complain about the flood waters running through your front yard from the street, and you don't know where to go to argue about your overtime parking ticket. (Is it your fault your watch stopped? Any reasonable person would realize that when a fellow's watch stops . . .)

Whatever your current difficulties, they're not lightened by the fact that you don't know where to find whosis because whosis has moved.

Here's where whosis is now.

The city clerk, the deputy city clerk and the assistant city clerk are in the parish hall of the church, and the city council will meet in the main body of the church next Wednesday, and every Wednesday after the first Monday of the month, as prescribed by ordinance.

The city license collector and the

Rock Pitching Can Run Into Money

Aroused Carmel Woods citizens paid a call at State Fish and Game headquarters in Monterey, Wednesday, asking protection for their pet quail.

Kids have been peppering the quail with rocks, and several of the birds have suffered broken legs as a result.

The delegation found the game warden eager to cooperate. He informed them that the penalty for molesting quail ranges from $25 to $500 according to the mood of the judge. The youngsters can't be forced to pay the fine, but their parents can.

It might be a thrifty idea for Carmel Woods parents of small kids who are handy with rocks to make sure that the target is not quail.

Hope We're Getting Our Money's Worth

We didn't want time limit parking for Carmel, or one way traffic, or loading zones and the rest of the endless petty regulations that pyramid as soon as a town starts trying to "control" traffic. But that's personal idiosyncrasy that goes along with a constitutional distaste for "control" in general.

Still we supported the merchants in their efforts to get their time limit parking because they wanted it, thought it would help their business, and it didn't make much difference to us. We still leave our car home and walk to work most of the time, just as we did before time limit parking. Besides, all they asked was a chance to "try it out."

Now we're wondering if the merchants are happy about this small time Frankenstein they have created. Since they first went be-

The Carmel Youth Center not only has a glee club, but an orchestra as well, following a great deal of hard work by Art Holman, who announces this week that his group is just about set. Shown above are Mr. Holman and Jimmie Moran, who plays the bass viol with the orchestra and is also a soloist with the glee club.

Mr. Holman is both composer and a musician, having played professional string bass and brasses with symphonies. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon, where he took a prominent part in musical activities.

He is instructor of vocal and instrumental music at Sunset School and also teaches photography at the Carmel Adult School. Along with his other activities, he is a commercial photographer locally, having as part of his background, industrial photography in Oregon.

His wife, Kay, is a professional pianist and has appeared a number of times in local musical events. They are the parents of two boys and one girl and have lived here for three years. The childrens' names are Jimmy, Danny and Vicky.

Mr. Holman, an extremely modest man, has had a varied career and no matter what he takes up, he does well. For instance, when he was at college he wrote music for the student shows as well as directing the orchestra. He also taught music at Eugene while he was still a student.

In Portland he arranged the music for Safeway Stores on a series of NBC programs and later went on the road with a dance band as a trumpeter. Also in Oregon he taught in high school for four years as well as acting as coach.

His qualifications as coach came partly from the fact that he was Northwest champion in the 440 hurdles while in college. In an international meet with Canada, he represented the United States in the 440 and set an international record. It was while they were both students in college that Art and Kay met. And so — here they are in Carmel — both of them contributing a great deal to the life of the community.

P. O. BLOCK TO BE SURFACED

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley has in hand a substantial part of the contributions from property owners on Dolores Street in the Post Office block, and the Fifth Avenue block between Dolores and San Carlos to assure these areas of major street improvement on the cooperative basis.

BIG TRIPLE-HEADER BASKETBALL FARE AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM TONIGHT

Carmel basketball fans will once again have an opportunity to watch their favorites of past years cavort on the hardwoods tonight when the stars of the past clash with the stars of the present. A talented band of lightweight alumni has been undergoing secret workouts during the Xmas vacation and is pronounced fit and ready to handle the sprouts on the current Padrecito squad. Headed by Bob Burgess and Paul Artellan, the oldtimers are confident they can teach the youngsters a lesson. Lightweight fracas gets started at 6:30.

Second tilt of the evening will bring together the good Shafter High School varsity against the Carmel High varsity. Shafter showed here last year and gave the Carmel lads a terrific struggle before the red and gray eked out a victory. 'Tis rumored that Shafter is much improved over last year and will be favored to cop the nod over the Padres this time. The Shafter team is coached by Steely Todd, former great from Pacific Grove High School and San Jose State. Extremely poor shooting has hampered the Padre varsity in all their games this season, but the boys have been coming close and are due for a good night before long. Hesitant team play has shackled many fine scoring opportunities which should be capitalized on by a winning team. Perhaps tonight will find the lid off the Padre basket and the offense running on all five.

In the final game of the evening, Carmel's 1946 Champs, headed by Clayton Neill, return to familiar surroundings to do battle with last year's red and gray varsity. Such good performers as Rich Templeman, Max Hodges, Mat Schmutz, Dick Gargiulo, Paul Warner, and the incomparable Neill will make Vandervort and his crew hustle all the way. Playing for last year's varsity will be Dick Weer, Jim Hare, Steve Whitaker, Lee Laugenour, and the deadeye redhead, Gene Vandervort.

THROUGH THE HOOP

The Carmel High School's traveling basketballers journeyed to Gustine last Friday and the farmer boys nipped the Padres in a pair of good tilts. Gustine lightweights rode to victory on a 24 point surge by a sharp-shooting guard who more than matched Butch Laugenours 17 point surge. Final score, 39-34. Fine shooting exhibitions by Henry Overin and Ken Wightman gave way to the fine team play of the valley lads. The lanky Ken connected for 17 markers and little Henry shot for an even dozen. Final score, 45 to 44. Both good spectator games . . . Just how good is the Salinas High School quintet? Last week, the Cowboys traveled to Berkeley and gave the University of California Frosh a whale of a game before bowing by three points. It's a sure thing that Salinas has the most coveted college prospect in this area—lads name is Russ Lawler, a towering 6-7 . . . The Carmel Valley boys have organized a pair of basketball teams and are anxious to take on all lightweight and varsity challengers. Most any Tuesday or Thursday night will satisfy the valley hoopsters . . . Ky Miyamoto's Youth Center gang is on the victory trail, whipping the good Naval Air Station squad, 48 to 39, and trouncing the Seaside Youth Center, 52 to 35. Ky's crew is slated to play Frosts tonight at 7 o'clock, and then rush to the Carmel gym to meet the former greats at 9 — a pretty rugged crew.

1950 SPORTS IN REVIEW

Pappy Waldorf and his California Bears learned their annual lesson from the midwest toughies as Morrison & Company won the Rose Bowl football classic. (Pappy is back for another try come New Years 1951, and, 'tis said Golden Bear alumni will be smiling when this one is over). The East again whipped the West in the greatest of all bowl games, the East-West Shrine game. In collegiate basketball, Nat Holman's CCNY gang surprised all the big ones by winning both national tournaments. Local bigs in basketball found the Frost Roofers running roughshod over all opposition furnished by the independents. Spark plug for the Roofers was, as usual, the team player of them all, Ky Miyamoto. In high school basketball the Pacific Grove Breakers nosed out the Carmel Padres for the gonfalon in the B division. In the A division, the Salinas Cowboys won handily and surged into the finals of the Northern California Tournament to be dumped by an amazing Chico quintet. Gene Vandervort and Lee Laugenour won All-CCAL honors on the B division hoop squad. Oakland, the sprintgboard to big-league manager-ship, won the Coast league pennant for Charley Dressen and propelled Charley to Brooklyn as manager of dem Bums. Class told again in major league baseball as the New York Yankees came through with a marvelous team performance to outgame the great individualists from Boston to win the American League flag and go on to cop the Worlds Series from the Phillies. In local prep school baseball, Henry Overin pitched the Carmel High School to its first championship. The crafty little lefty blanked the Hollister Haybalers, 1 to 0, in the championship game. Mission League baseball completely dominated by the power-laden Salinas Rodeo Buffet nine. This outfit made a travesty of competition in the regular league play and had a powerful hand in the semi-pro tournament. Local softball teams had a banner year in the number of games played, but had rough sledding in league play. Both the Pine Cone and Wilder & Jones chibs finished out of the money in the Bay League. The Bing Crosby Golf Tournament, bigger and better than ever, drew record gates and continued to be the outstanding sporting event on the Monterey Peninsula. Big time tennis came to Carmel as the pros put on an exhibition at the Carmel High School gym. Most people were asleep before the display of temperament came to an end. Joe Louis tried a comeback and he should have stuck with his golf game. Champion Ezzard Charles took pity on the former great bomber and carried him through the final rounds. Tears were shed at Notre Dame as the great football dynasty collapsed to have its worst season in many years. Navy, with the West Coast's Eddie Erdelatz at the helm, provided the biggest upset in 1950 football by dumping unbeaten Army, 14 to 2. Frankie Albert and the San Francisco Forty-Niners had a very bad year, but the Cleveland Browns and Otto Graham upheld the honor of the All-American pro conference by winning the National pro title. Carmel High School finally had its winning streak broken when Hollister whipped them to win the B division title. The Padres had won 18 straight before running into the Haybalers. Monterey Peninsula College became a football power in junior college circles by winning the southern section title. Former Padre stars, Jim Hare, Tom Handley, Art Harber, Pete Berg, Dick Weer, and Walt Frey had a hand in the championship effort of the Lobos. May 1951 see all our major battles fought on the athletic fields.

BADMINTON STARTS AGAIN ON JANUARY 2nd

The Carmel Adult School badminton classes will resume activity on Tuesday, January 2nd at the high school gymnasium. The popular bird and racket sport is scheduled for each Tuesday and Thursday, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Anyone who has gained a few unwanted pounds from the easy living of the holiday season is urged to register in the badminton class and chase off the pounds chasing the bird. Rackets are furnished at the gym, but participants must have their own birds and gym shoes. Birds may be purchased at the gym. Badminton play is open to both men and women and competition is available for the very beginner or the veteran expert.

JUDGEMENT REVERSED

In the Stoops, Harris et al vs. Viebrocks and Glazebrook case, judgment of the jury was reversed Monday and the defendants granted a new trial.

Robison and Whittlesey represent the plaintiffs: Judge George P. Ross, and the firm of Hudson, Martin, Ferrante and Street, the defendants.

Viebrock and Glazebrook had been sued for alleged misrepresentation in the sale of a piece of property. In reversing the decision the court held that no fraud had been proved.

Stella Mather

On Christmas night, Mrs. T. W. Mather (Stella Stafford Mather) died in Long Beach following an illness. She had lived for many years in Carmel, and had a great circle of friends and acquaintances here.

Born in Salinas, she attended the University of California, and lived many years abroad, notably in South America and South Africa, with her husband who was a mining engineer. Mr. Mather passed away several years ago.

She leaves her son, John Mather of Dallas, Texas, and her daughter, Margaret Mather of New York. She also leaves her sister, Mrs. A. C. Hughes of Carmel.

Funeral plans have not been determined owing to the fact that John Mather has been unable to get a plane from Dallas, but following his arrival there will be a service in Long Beach followed by burial in the family plot in Salinas.

There's a special holiday sale on at HARRIET DUNCAN'S on Sixth Street, and if you go over as quickly as possible you may find lots of wondrous things to wear New Year's Eve . . . Reductions are fabulous. F'r instance those stunning velveteen jackets, formerly $25, are now $16.95. And velveteen skirts to match have gone from $12.95 to $6.95! Remember those bewitching black lace blouses, with little rhinestone buttons? They've dropped from $12.95 to $5.00! Oh, and felt skirts, too . . . $21.95 to $12.95. Some have a deep pocket embroidered with jewels, sequins, gold thread, others have designs applicqued in felt. One from Switzerland, too, an intriguing brocade. Also on sale: corduroy jackets and skirts, challis jackets and skirts, sports dresses, too. Really wonderful bargains!

You'd better be sure to call right away to order your New Year's turkey from MAC'S POULTRY MARKET, if you want one of those plump, fresh, home-processed birds for which MAC'S POULTRY is justly famous! They have both tom and hen turkeys, and you can order half a turkey if you don't want a whole one. They also have plump roasters and fryers. And for your New Year's egg-nogs, you can get those lovely fresh ranch eggs—Phone 7-6553. MAC'S POULTRY is on San Carlos near Fifth.

Are you thinking of fixing up your patio? They have lots of brick and tile over at the PLAZA FUEL AND SUPPLY COMPANY at Sixth and Junipero, and if you want to do it yourself they have all kinds of literature, pamphlets and instruction books. The patio tiles are red, 36 cents each; and bricks are 5½ cents each. All sorts of brick, incidentally, including 12x12. Phone number is 7-3801. Tell your husband to hie himself over there, girls!

They're having their annual January clearance at HOLMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORE, and items in all 46 departments are greatly reduced! Sale starts on Wednesday, January 3, and you'd better get there when the doors open at 9:30 if you want to get first pick.

Foundation garments are one-third off; and there are brassieres for as little as 69 cents and $1.29. There are wonderful buys in millinery, also in dresses, coats, suits! Knit-dresses, for instance, formerly $35 are now $19.95; others formerly priced at $39.95 have dropped to $2.95. There's a wide selection of lingerie, including slips and gowns, both tailored and lace-trimmed, at 50% off! Blouses, too, in many styles and fabrics at 50% off. Hand-bags, both leather and fabric, are greatly reduced. Price range has dropped from $2.95 to $35 down to $1.95 to 22.95. There's lots of yardage on sale, too, including drapery fabrics, and oh yes, furniture and rugs! Lon't miss the book-sale, by the way.

HOLMAN'S is sorry they can accept no telephone calls or mail-orders on the sale; and all sales are final. Will deliver as usual, of course. Incidentally, they have lots of sheets! And that's a good item to stock up on these days.

THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP (on Ocean Avenue near Dolores) has finally received many books they expected before Christmas, both in fiction and non-fiction, and it might be a very good place to spend your Christmas gift-money! Among other things, Robert Payne's Mao Tse-Tung, ruler of Red China, has just come in; also the Viking portable Faulkner (a collection of his best work); Peking Diary by Derk Bodde, and the Double-Crostics Series 26. Lots of others, too, and more new books are coming in every day now.

News of the week is that THE CARMEL HILL THEATRE opens January 4 with Marcel Pagnol's Trilogy of Marseille! The three pictures are Marius, Fany, and Cesar; and the late Raimu, world-famous French actor who played the baker in The Baker's Wife, plays the leading role in all three. (Same characters and same actors are carried throughout each picture). Marius will open with a 3-day run on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Fanny will play on Sunday and Monday, and Cesar on Tuesday and Wednesday. John McCarten of the New Yorker commented that Cesar is the best, but that all three pictures are superb.

There's going to be a big January clearance sale at THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP in Monterey! It starts on January 3, and if you want to save money, girls, this is your opportunity. Everyone says that when Mrs. Brownley has a sale, she really puts one on! And there are some really unusual values at THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP. It is in the first block on Alvarado Street on the right as you come in from Carmel, and the number is 489 Alvarado. Better go over early if you want first choice!

During the holiday season, THE DOWN TOWN LIQUOR STORE at 317 Alvarado Street in Monterey will be open as usual from 9 a.m. until 2 a.m. on Sunday and holidays. That means, THE DOWN TOWN LIQUOR STORE will be open this Sunday and on New Year's Day. For your holiday entertaining, they have everything you could wish for, including many brands of champagne, both imported and domestic, and sparkling burgundy. They have a complete line of liquors, and will deliver cases. Phone number is Monterey 2-5301.

Terrific Was Kids' Turnout For Lions Xmas Theatre Party

Santa Claus handed out 175 apples, 175 oranges and 175 bags of candy to the kids at the Lions Club Christmas Morning Theater Party, according to the report of the committee submitted Tuesday night at the weekly dinner meeting.

Entertainment for the dinner meeting was furnished by Lieut. Stan Vincent, who sang Hawiian and South of the Border songs to his own accompanyment on the guitar. He was the guest of Lloyd Weer, who also was host to Lee Crowe, Sgt. Bill Kappy and Staff Sgt. Glenn Kearns.

Phil Wygren of San Francisco was a guest of the club.

John J. Ehlers

John J. Ehlers, a resident of Robles del Rio, died Tuesday in a local hospital following a brief illness. He was a carpenter by trade.

Mr. Ehlers was 67 years old and a native of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Hilda Black of Carmel and two brothers, Henry Ehlers of Port Washington, Wisconsin, and William Ehlers of River Hills, Wisconsin.

Services and interment will be Milwaukee. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

fore the council asking for parking regulation, they have petitioned again and got the limit reduced from two hours to one, and the one way traffic to the post office reversed. The regulation is costing the tax payers, which includes the merchants, a little something. Two extra men have been added to the police department to patrol and enforce the parking regulations. A $1,434 motorcycle has been bought so the patrolman can get around to mark the cars. And now a clerk has been hired to take care of traffic fines because the police department is too busy to continue to do so.

It costs $350 exclusive of material to install the time limit parking signs, and $40 to repaint them to one hour parking.

Of course, there is more parking now. We noticed it yesterday. But it is winter and we suspect there'd be more parking anyway.

The question is, did we have more parking last summer? Shall we have more next summer, enough to justify the nuisance of the regulations and the expense of enforcing them?—Wilma Cook

NEW THEATRE OPENS

The Hill, Monterey's new locally owned motion picture theater, will open its doors Thursday evening, January 4, at 8:10 p.m. Located at the foot of Carmel Hill, at Monterey city limits, the theater's debut also marks the opening of Monte Vista Village, a shopping development in the Monte Vista tract.

The theater's opening attraction will be Marius, the first of Marcel Pagnol's celebrated film-trilogy of Marseilles, which will play Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Fanny and Cesar, the second and third pieces in the set, will follow on Sunday and Tuesday respectively.

THE WAR PSYCHOPATH

Thought is the only ferret that will find
The obscure blossom of the darkened mind,
The urgent clamor of the loosened flower
Waits expectant for the saner hour.
The mentor's voice releases the full bloom,
Illuminates the former sunless room.

BY ORIAN DEPLEDGE

FRAGMENT

Consider Autumn,
how the leaves descend
with a paper squalor of decrepitude.
And like old age,
the trees discard their being
In a pale splendor of relinquishing.
How all the seasons tend to meet the season's end, and each dry leaf in turning turns downward to its burning.

GOD OF PLANES

In faith today, we have perforce to be,
As ever, true. Yet something there must be Above a faith, new, and not known to all
That glides itself to those afraid, who call
Where e'er they be, upon that unseen aid
That rides the air, on whom man's hope is strayed.

The Great Express, the swift God who made air,
The winged help of those who call with prayer;
This is the God of wings, and only known
To those who ride the air, whose lives are thrown
On timing, or on skill, whose dead friends fly
Beside them in long memories of sky.

I discussed the whole thing with Time and he didn't understand what all the fuss was about and I said it was his fault because he didn't improve things much and he said it wasn't his fault and blame everything but themseles and I started getting mad and he said "See what I mean"

DAVID PALMER

BOX G-1

Editor, Pine Cone Symbal:
Dear Sir:

"Thin as a rail" is an old folksaying. It persists from long before the days when the "girlish figure" of glamourous blondes became the vogue. Men then courting had to think of a wife's hard work. They had not forgotten another folksaying: "May your shadow never grow less."

The rail, a skinny bird, is best known from above simile. It inhabits salt marshes. These, such as those seen from the train along the South shore of San Pablo Bay between Berkeley and Port Costa, are now coloring beautifully under Jack Frost's skillful hands. The samphire of such marshes is almost as striking as were October's Sierran aspen-gold and creek dogwood-scarlet.

The marsh samphire is almost as much tolerant of sea water as are the mangroves of the Tropics. In Siberia it is cut, dried, burned for the salt content of its ashes. And along the salt marshes are clumps of low bushes. It always is a thrill when a kiddie spies in them his first timid rail.

Very earnestly

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

Many of us have received potted plants from kind friends and are wondering what to do with them after they have served their purpose of brightening up our living rooms. Of course, this all depends upon what plant you have received. The general run of blooming florist supplies at this time of year are restricted to azalea and cyclamen, and some bulbs are available.

Azaleas can be salvaged for the garden. When the plant has stopped blooming, tenderly take plant out of pot and take a look at the very bottom of plant. If the roots are crowded or twisted, cut away about one inch of soil, which you will find is almost solid peat moss. Loosen the bottom roots and plant in the garden in another bed of peat moss. Morning sun is best for azaleas. Many gardeners make the mistake of planting shade plants in too deep shade. All things need some sunlight and the azaleas are no exception. Filtered sunlight that comes through branches of tree is good for rhodendrons, azaleas and camellias.

Cyclamen is another story. This plant grows from a bulb, but strange as it sounds, the florists start all cyclamen from seeds. There is very little chance of reclaiming your cyclamen plants. I have tried many years and have had small success. If you want to make a stab at reclaiming your cyclamen, the process is the same as that used for tuberous begonias. When the plant has stopped blooming, lay the pot on its side in a dry, dark place and let it go to sleep. Next Spring place the plant in the garden under trees or in partial shade. Maybe she will bloom for you, maybe she won't.

Tulip bulbs are another peculiar plant. Before planting, tulips, should be placed in the refrigerator for a week or so. The first year of the tulip life is gorgeous and satisfactory; the second year they are apt to sulk, but give them three years, and back they come to brighten the garden with a wow!

Daffodils are a hardy and satisfactory bulb. The potted plants can be moved to the garden, but be careful not to break the soil away from the roots. Knock them out of the pot and plant in full sun. Never cut the green spires from daffodils. These must die back by themselves, and in the dying-back, they are making new flowers for the next year.

Poinsettia is the brightest thing that blooms in December, and what's more, poinsettia looks sturdy and capable of carrying on for itself. In southern California, this is true, as the plant is a semi-tropical. I won't say that you can't raise poinsettia around here, as I know one or two plants that have thrived through the years. If you have a warm, enclosed patio, maybe your poinsettia will live for you, but where I live with the great out-doors coming right into my face, I wouldn't have a chance.

Make a try with these Xmas plants. Maybe you can tell the world something to startle us all.

GOING— GOING— last call for these bargains!

WE think we ought to warn you—this is the last time we aim to advertise these prices.

So you'd better take a careful look at them—and what they'll buy.

They'll buy the thrill of swift, smooth, spirited travel—and trigger-quick power so mighty that few Buick owners have ever pressed it to the limit.

They'll buy sparkling style, spacious comfort and the durable, dependable, time-tested quality for which Buicks are famous.

And when you check what you get for what you pay, you'll make this discovery.

On a pounds-per-dollar basis—which is the engineers' yardstick of bedrock value—no other cars of comparable dimensions can beat a Buick SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

Or to be more specific—Buick's straight-eight SPECIAL is priced like a six—and in the ROADMASTER "price class" you can pay 23% or more than you'll pay for these great automobiles.

But note this fact: Our supply of these bargains is limited—so you'd better come in now and see what we have on hand.

Carmel Represented At The Stanford Architect Show

Carmel will be well represented in an architectural exhibit now on display at the Stanford University Art Gallery, with photographs, models and drawings being shown. The exhibit is the second annual showing of the Coast Valleys Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

Robert Stanton and his associate, Chester Phillips, are displaying a model of a school built with earthquake proof design of an A-frame with rafters fastened directly to the floor joists. William L. Cranston is showing his design for the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Weiser of Watsonville, while Thomas S. Elston Jr. is showing the residence overlooking Carmel River mouth for Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett, as well as the suburban movie theater in the Monte Vista tract.

PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel 7-3881.

Gregor Piatigorski, cellist, will be presented by the Carmel Music Society Saturday, January 6, in the Sunset Auditorium. This greatest of living cellists is now on his twentieth tour of the United States, celebrating his fortieth year as a professional musician, although he is only 47 years old. He has made more than 800 appearances in this country, frequently as soloist with major orchestras, although most often at his own recitals.

Piatigorski's instrument, which will be heard here, is one made by Domenico Montagnana in the year 1739, and he calls it his Sleeping Beauty because it had lain untouched for 100 years when he first discovered it in London. He wooed it back to life and now, whenever it is heard in his hands, it evokes extravagant praises from critics. He says of it: "It has the grandeur of an organ, the mellowness of the human voice, the fluency of the violin."

Piatigorski has enriched the cello repertoire through many of his own transcriptions, such as his 14 variations on the Paganini Caprice in A Minor. Each of these variations portrays a performance of some virtuoso to whom it is dedicated, among them Casals, Heifetz, Kreiselr and Koussevitsky. His RCA Victor and Columbia records have made available many of the pieces for which he has become famous, work by Saint saens, Prokofieff, Rubinstein, Rachmaninoff, Rimsky-Karsakoff and Tchaikovsky.

The program for January 6, which will be announced in the next issue of the Pine Cone, will include some of the compositions dedicated to him by his admirers, Prokofieff and Hindesmith.

Those who are not members of the Carmel Music Society may obtain tickets for this single concert at the box office before the performance.

For Printing that is distinctive—Dial 7-3881, The Pine Cone Press.

Coughlin-Fredrickson Nuptials

On Saturady morning, December 23, Jane Marie Coughlin and Floyd Alan Frederickson were married at Carmel Mission. The altar was flanked by baskets of white chrysanthemums, and white chrysanthemums with lace bows marked the pews.

The bride, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Coughlin of Carmel, wore a gown of white satin with Venetian lace edging the tunic, and clusters of seed pearls clung to her bonnet of white satin which held the fingertip veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

She was preceded to the altar by her five attendants, Mary Agnes Fortier, the maid-of-honor, who wore a dress of coral satin and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Sue Henricks, Miss Nancy Anderson, Miss Margaret Tyler and Miss Joan Prince. Two of the bridesmaids wore copper satin and carried chrysanthemums to match, and the other two appeared in champagne satin with chrysanthemum bouquets of the same color.

Wilmar Jensen was the best man, and Albert Horn, Richard Clarke, Ward Anderson and Richard Deich were the ushers. All are Stanford students, friends of the groom, who is a senior in Stanford law school.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at La Playa Hotel. The wedding cake, which centered the festive refreshment table, was surrounded by masses of gardenias. Mrs. Coughlin, mother of the bride, stood in the receiving line with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fredrickson of Portland, Oregon, and the newlyweds. She wore a gown of pale blue and silver knit, and her shoes and gloves were purple, her hat blue. Mrs. Fredrickson, mother of the groom, wore a blue crepe with pink accessories, and an orchid corsage.

After the gala wedding reception at La Playa, the newly-wedded pair left for a honeymoon in La Jolla. They will be home Sunday to spend New Year's with Dr. and Mrs. Coughlin in Carmel, and with Mr. and Mrs. Fredrickson who are finishing out the holidays with the Coughlins. Then they will depart for Palo Alto where they will make their home until they graduate from their respective colleges.

The new Mrs. Fredrickson, who is a graduate of Carmel High School, is a senior at San Jose State.

Later they will go to Portland, Oregon, where Mr. Fredrickson will practise law.

On the evening before the wedding, a cocktail party and buffet supper was held at the Coughlin home for the wedding party. Honored were John J. Coughlin, the bride's grandfather, and Mrs. Loretta Ross, who had flown out from Hartford, Connecticut.

Bert Harwell, Whistling Bird Man To Conduct Audubon Screen Tour

Whistling Bert Harwell, one of California's notable native sons—born in the neighborhood of Santa Rosa—has perhaps done as much to introduce the people of this North American continent to bird life, as Luther Burbank did for plant life, fruits and flowers. At the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society's next screen tour, in Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, on Friday, January 5, at 8 p. m., Bert the Bird Man is quite liable to open the evening's entertainment with an unconventional trilling of birdsongs. Accompanying himself at the piano, he can open the cage of memory to release songbirds on the wing. He is a pastmaster in the art of imitating bird sounds—quail, finches, jays, tanagers, meadow larks—and is equally gifted in story-telling and describing life in the feathered world. As a wildlife photographer, he has ranged the continent from ocean to ocean, under the auspices of the National Audubon Society.

The Audubon Screen Tour at Sunset School auditorium, next Friday night, will take the audience to Gaspe Peninsula, in Canada East—a remote region on the south shore of the lower St. Lawrence river, where the habitants of French origin live in much the same fashion as they did three hundred years ago, before migrating from Normandy. There is no age limit in the appeal of Bert Harwell's screen tour.

Troupers Celebrate New Year's Eve In Traditional Way

New Year's Eve at California's First Theatre, Monterey, has come to be a tradition, many beginning their celebration of the going out of the Old Year and the coming in of the New, at the historic old Theatre. Since the show is out before eleven, plenty of time is left for people to get to their later parties.

The Streets of New York, directed by Rhea Diveley, will open the show, with Terry Eby in the role of Bloodgood, the banker who robs an old sea captain. Following the melodrama, the First Theatre olio will go into action, augmented by several acts of former Troupers, who come in on New Year's Eve to join the fun.

After the entire show is over, the present cast becomes host to all and any Troupers of the Gold Coast who may drop in, and often the gaiety reaches a new high with another olio which the Troupers put on strictly for themselves.

The Streets of New York will also play tomorrow night, December 30. All First Theatre shows begin at 8:15.

NEW GALLERY SHOW

A new show will be hung over the week end at the Carmel Art Gallery and will be one of the regular monthly exhibits, according to Steve Crouch, curator. It will be on view to the public at the beginning of the week. The present show, a non-juried one, may be seen throughout this week. No special exhibits have been planned for the immediate future.

RICHARD BOKES HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boke are visiting Mr. Boke's mother, Mrs. George Boke, for the holiday season. Richard Boke, who recently returned from Paris where he was a United Nations delegate dealing with the problems of arid nations, will go back to his duties in Sacramento after the first of the year.

W. Morehouse

William Herbert Morehouse, brother of Ernest Morehouse of Carmel, died from a heart attack last Friday while visiting here.

A native of Salt Lake City, he was for many years connected with the California Packing Corporation in San Jose.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ada Morehouse of San Jose; a son, William H. Morehouse, Jr., U. S. Navy; two brothers, Ernest Morehouse of Carmel and Milton Morehouse of Long Beach; a sister, Mrs. H. O. Ellis of Chico; two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held in San Jose, with Paul's Mortuary in charge of local arrangements.

Alice Morehouse Weds

Last Friday evening, December 22, at 8 p.m., Alice Jeanne Morehouse became the bride of Arthur R. Nies in an impressive ceremony at All Saints' Episcopal Church. Rev. Arthur Seccombe officiated.

Alice is the first bride to be married in the new church which will be officially dedicated in January.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Ernest Morehouse of Carmel, wore a gown of white satin with a bodice of chantilly lace; and the skirt of shimmering satin had points of chantilly lace running down into the long, formal train. On her head she wore a coronet of chantilly lace over white sation and a finger-tip veil. She carried a prayer book with streamers of lily-of-the-valley and orchids.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Jeanne Conn of Sausalito, a cousin of the bride, was dressed in dark green satin and carried a bouquet of small dark red roses. The two bridesmaids, Mary Nelson of Piedmont and Lorraine Harris of Eugene, Oregon, were dressed exactly like the maid-of-honor, and all three wore coronets in their hair.

Dianne Miller was the flower-girl, dressed in American beauty red to carry out the Christmas theme.

Best man was C. Robert Warner of Torrance, and Vinal E. Benson of Lodi and Robert A. Nies of Fresno were the two ushers. Mr. Nies is a brother of the groom.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Morehouse, wore a gown of champagne colored, starched, silk marquisette with a bouffant skirt and a short train, and she carried orchids in stunning green and burgundy shades. The groom's mother, Mrs. Adolph Nies of Lodi, wore toast-colored lace and carried a bouquet of green orchids.

The church was beautifully decorated with tall pine trees and poinsettias around the altar, and in the aisles of the church there were streamers of green instead of traditional white and holly and little white snowballs for pew-markers—again carrying out the Christmas motif.

Following the ceremony, a magnificent reception was held at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club attended by over 250 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse and Mrs. Adolph Nies stood in the reception line with the bride and groom against a background of red poinsettias, holly and pines, and an enormous Christmas tree. Champagne punch and wedding cake were served.

The bride, who had changed into her going-away outfit for the reception — a stunning dark blue and white checked suit with accessories in navy — threw her wedding bouquet from the balcony of the Country Club, and to everyone's delight it was caught by her cousin, Jeanne Conn, the maid-of-honor.

The newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon in Southern California, following which the groom, who is undergoing his Basic Training in the Army Air Corps, will go to Texas January 2. The new Mrs. Nies will return to Martinez where she has been teaching school until her husband finishes his training and plans are more settled.

Both Alice and her new husband are graduates of the College of the Pacific.

Newly weds Arthur and Alice Nies pledge their troth in front of fireplace at their Monterey Peninsula Country Club reception, following their wedding at All Saints' Episcopal Church Friday, December 22. Mrs. Nies is the former Alice Morehouse.

Hare Family Doings

Ricky Masten blew in Tuesday night for a brief holiday glimpse of Carmel and the assembled family. He drove out from Chicago a week ago to spend Christmas in Pasadena with his aunt, Eleanor Minton James, and his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. George Taylor. But he couldn't let the holiday-season pass without dropping in on his mother, Mrs. Chester Hare, and his numerous brothers and sisters.

Ricky returned to Pasadena Thursday, where he plans to remain and look for a job.

Warren Masten was home for Christmas, too. He flew out from Pennsylvania where he goes to school at Kitsky, and will return by plane New Year's Day.

On Saturday, Dr. and Mrs. Chester Hare, Jimmy Hare and Warren Masten will drive down to Pasadena for New Year's with Ricky, Mrs. James, and the Dr. Taylors. Gay Masten is flying to Pasadena and Ricky will meet her at the Airport.

Six will go to the Rose Bowl game — Dr. and Mrs. Hare, Ricky, Warren, Jimmy and Gay.

The two younger Hare children, Don and Lee, are remaining in Carmel.

Elton Clark came home from Dartmouth to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark of Carmel.

Leoni Family Christmas

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni went up to San Francisco for Christmas with the Howard McGurrins, Mrs. Leoni's daughter and son-in-law, and the two McGurrin children, Heidi and Flicka. They arrived on December 22, in time for little Heidi's annual Christmas birthday party.

On December 23, Mrs. Leoni entertained a group of friends at the St. Francis Yacht Club.

There was a gala family gathering at the McGurrin home on Christmas, for in addition to the McGurrins and the Leonis, Mrs. Leoni's son, Seth Powers Ulman and his wife, Sylvia were there, and her two nephews, Luigi Dusmet DeSmours and Frank Dusmet DeSmours are now stationed at Fort Ord.

The two nephews, whose parents live in Rome, were recently inducted into the Army.

The Leonis returned to the peninsula Christmas Day, and on December 26 Mrs. Leoni went down to Big Sur for more holiday celebration with her daughter, Madeleine Fassett, and the children.

One of the choicest sights in a coon's age was Fred Rogers sprinting down Highway No. 1 near the Sousa ranch on Tuesday evening, December 12, trying to race Lloyd Bell's car—after having walked all the way from Carmel. As far as we know he went right on walking all the way home to Palo Colorado. Maybe he's trying to out-road-run the Roadrunner and would like to take over the colyum? Help yourself, brother!

The Rogers, by the way, intend to acquire a nanny goat around the first of the year, with hopes that the creature will help prune their garden and their rising food costs at the same time. We can guarantee the garden end of it at least.

Pity Mrs. Rogers, whose birthday comes the day after Christmas, of all times! It used to be her fate to get everybody's Christmas "white elephants"—which she didn't want either—as birthday gifts; now she doesn't even get those—just one "Merry Christmas and Happy Birthday" present per giver. Then as the post-anticlax (?) comes Fred Rogers' birthday after her's! Marian, their youngster, was shrewd and had her birthday in the middle of summer.

Lloyd Bell volunteered the information that he and Betty did something just about as bad—and it was their own fault, too. They went and had their wedding anniversary on December 15. Better that, however, than January 2nd, say?

The reporter has just received her grocery bill, and with it the information that Ed Culver will be new supply man and mail carrier for the Coast Route (and groceryman as well for the area between Big Sur and Gorda). Apparently things have been getting lively down along the highway since the Roadrunner has taken to staying up on her hill because she's always either too busy or too wet to hike down to the mail box. Rumors have finally drifted up that the Leo Cumming's service station and another place at Big Sur were robbed lately. Maybe the Press had better go down and keep an eye on things a little better, if the Sheriff can't.

Janet Richey Marries

Janet Richey, the daugter of Frank H. Richey of Carmel, was married to Douglas Alexander McChesney at the Carmel Mission on Wednesday afternoon, December 27, at 5 p.m. Rev. Father Lawrence Farrell conducted the service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a double-breasted navy blue suit with a Peter Pan collar, a navy hat with a veil and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and violets.

Margot Campbell, the maid of honor, wore a powder blue dress and carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby roses.

William Charles Whiteman, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, there was a reception at the home of the bride's father, and champagne and wedding cake were served.

The new Mrs. McChesney was graduated from Carmel High School and has been attending Monterey Peninsula College. The groom, who is the son of Mrs. Douglas Archibald McChesney and the late Dr. McChesney of Monterey, is a graduate of the University of California at Davis. He is a member of the forest service, at present stationed at Palo Colorado.

Following a honeymoon in Southern California, the newlyweds will make their home in the Palo Colorado.

STRAY BITS...

Remo Scardigli's finally set his wedding date for January 12. He's marrying Evelyn Morthrop, a San Jose girl, who's in charge of display at Hart's department store. They'll probably go down to Ensenada for a few days after the wedding . . . Don't know where they're going to live yet, but probably in Monterey because Remo sold his car.

Heard from Lilik and Louise Schatz after all this time, and they're still in New York, haven't gotten off to Palestine yet. They're visiting Lilik's sister, Zahara Schatz, who makes plastic jewelry. Louise says she'd be willing to "sell New York, very, very cheaply". She is already homesick for the Big Sur; even the prospect of going to Paris fails to exicte her.

Speaking of Big Sur, Mrs. Janet Tolerton had a gay Christmas this year, because in addition to her son and daughter-in-law, David and Betty Tolerton, her younger son, Burt Tolerton came out from New York. Burt recently got his Ph.D. in anthropology at Columbia, is now casting about for a university job.

Everyone's been having birthdays this week, including three members of the Pine Cone staff, Beth Ingels, Georgie Taylor and Rosalind Wall. It seems much too much on top of Christmas and New Year's. Bert Taylor had one, too, and Henry Miller down at Big Sur, and we understand that Robinson Jeffers will have one soon, also Flavia Flavin, Nancy Schumann, Sean Flavin and John Short.

Stamp Club Meeting

At the Monday meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club, E. R. Blankenship gave an informative talk on United States overprints illustrated by two frames from his own collection. This followed the usual reports by the secretary and the treasurer, Mrs. Gary C. Smead, and the various committees to Col. John R. Wright, president of the organization.

Mrs. Irene H. Hatton, Mrs. Viola R. Bryant and Miss Lydia Weld won the door-prizes which had been donated by L. S. Stallings, the Program Chairman.

Following the talk by Blankenship, Mr. Stallings introduced Mr. Colin N. McNaught, a stamp dealer from New Zealand. After complimenting Carmel, McNaught described New Zealand and the Royal Philatelic Society.

The Monterey Stamp Club will hold its next meeting January 15 at 8 p.m. at the Sunset School Cafeteria, at which time a stamp-auction will be held. Stamp collectors and their friends are cordially invited.

At the end of the meeting Monday night, appreciation was expressed to Mr. McNaught, and also to the committee responsible for the cider and doughnuts, Mrs. Gladys Stallings, Mrs. Irene H. Hatton and Mrs. Viola Bryant.

Delta Kappa Gamma Party

Delta Gamma had a gala Christmas meeting at the home of Miss Harriet Baker in Pacific Grove on Saturday evening, December 6.

Following the business meeting conducted by President Luella Hall of Hartnell College, Salinas, Miss Ann Arpajolu gave a talk on Christmas in Greece. Miss Arpajolu is an instructor at the Army Language School.

After Miss Arpajolu's talk, refreshments were served including bahklavas, rich desserts which are traditional in Greece on festive occasions.

Members of the Monterey County Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma brought warm clothing to the meeting to be sent to an improverished village near Saloniki, in Greece.

The committee who assisted Miss Baker included Mrs. Louise Bourns, Mrs. Robert Petersen, Miss Aletha Worral and Miss Eleanor Ziel.

Irene Hall

Private funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Irene Hall, who died Friday at her home at Monte Verde and Fifth. Death, according to the coroner's office, was apparently caused by an overdose of sleeping tablets. Her husband, Capt. Wolcott E. Hall, USN (ret.) said she had been in ill health.

Mrs. Hall was a native of Winslow, Arizona, and was 51 years of age. She and Capt. Hall had lived in Carmel since last March.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. Frazier Howard of Concord.

T. A. Dorney was in charge of funeral arrangements.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, December 31, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text will be taken from John: "When he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come" (16:13).

The citations comprising the sermon will include the following:

The Bible: "Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. Judgment also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet: and the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters shall overflow the hiding place" (Isaiah 28:16, 17).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christianity will never be based on a divine Principle and so found to be unerring, until its absolute Science is reached. When this is accomplished, neither pride, prejudice, bigotry, nor envy can wash away its foundation, for it is built upon the rock, Christ" (p. 483).

Hunt and Peck

BY BETH INGELS

This is the time of the year to make New Year's resolutions. The last time I made one was when I was about 14 years old. The reason I know this is because when I recently moved out of my Valley place I went through boxes and trunks of the things "one doesn't throw away." In this myriad of junk I found a small, leather-bound diary that I remember had been given to me one birthday. In it, I had started the New Year out right by making a resolution. In my 14-year old handwriting I read: I resolve to be a better sport.

It took me back many years to my days at Monterey High School, and as I read the line, I remembered exactly why I had written it. Just before Christmas one day we had been having gym class outside and I had a slight altercation with a fellow student on a matter of ethics in volley ball. The upshot of it was that I had a black eye and she had a bloody nose. I guess I must have been wrong because I remember spending 40 long minutes that afternoon in Mr. Mc-Intosh's office in penance. And I suppose that it was during those 40 minutes that I decided to be a better sport. Memory grows dim and I can't recall whether I kept my resolution. I do know, though, that the only other shiner I received in school was during a baseball game and I was as proud of that mouse as a Heidelberg student was of his sabre scar. And so, I don't think I'll make a new resolution again this year. I think I shall just stick to that old one. Black eye or no black eye.

Cole Weston hits big time again next week in the January 2 issue of Look, with four full pages of pictures with captions on the canonization trial of Father Junipero Serra. One full page, in color, shows the interior of the Carmel Mission, while the other photos are of the trial itself and those who testified during it. The trial took place last year in the Fresno diocese.

Peninsula city officials have been told that new arrangements must be made soon about garbage disposal and that the present dump will undoubtedly be condemned by the health department. Those who have been in Mexico City have probably noticed how the situation is handled there. Municipal trucks go through the streets twice a week to pick up the garbage placed in the gutters. But by the time the trucks come along there is little or no garbage left. This is because the hundreds of yellow scavenger dogs that roam the streets take care of the problem themselves. And when they have eaten the garbage they go en masse to the outskirts of the city to wait for the morning train which comes in from the states. At a certain point just outside the city limits the stewards throw out left-over food from the diner and the dogs take care of that, too. That wouldn't work in Carmel, though. The dogs here are too well fed.

We Scottish are slow to anger. But once our ire is raised—brother, watch out! A group of Scots Nationlists have been brooding about a little matter for quite some time—for 653 years, in fact. And then decided to do something about it. They "liberated" the famed Stone of Scone this week, Scotland's Stone of Destiny. They just calmly walked into Westminister Abby and carted off the 400 pound stone, which has been used for British coronation ceremonies lo these many centuries. Scotland Yard, meanwhile, has thrown roadblocks across all main roads leading to Scotland. But we Scottish are wily, too. I think that if I had liberated the Stone of Scone I would have tossed it into some abandoned rock quarry and left it there for a couple hundred years until after the excitement had waned. Then I would take it back to Scotland.

Free Madrigal, Dance Concert Here Tonight

Tonight at Sunset Auditorium, the Carl Cherry Foundation is presenting a festival of music and dance featuring the Madrigal Guild of Berkeley under the direction of Eileen Washington and dancer Henry Kirsch.

The program, which starts at 8:30 p.m., is free. No tickets or reservations are necessary. It is the Yuletide gift of the Carl Cherry Foundation to the community.

The festival will be presented in the form of a program devoted to the joys of the Nativity, and is divided into two sections. The first part features the Madrigal Guild of Berkeley which was founded in 1943 and is dedicated to the recreation and perpetuation of Renaissance masterpieces. The 10 singers will appear in authentic reproductions of Renaissance costumes. And the accompanying instruments, the harpsichord and lute, are authentic replicas of Renaissance instruments.

The group will sing a cycle of English madrigals, and soloists will render lute songs.

The second half of the program will feature Henry Kersh, young dancer who has appeared in concert in San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and on the Monterey Peninsula. He will create a series of antique and religious dances to the accompaniment of a chamber ensemble, and will join the madrigal singers in an interpretation of a choral pavane.
